The Speaker: Earl Wesley Morey, M.Div., Ph.D

Dr. Morey established the first School of Biblical Studies, Pacific and Asia Christian University, Kailua-Kona, Hawaii, in 1981, and helped establishing the Schools of Biblical Studies on various continents.

Dr. Morey was born and raised in Baltimore, Maryland. He earned a B.A. in Philosophy, summa cum laude, from Western Maryland College, and a M.Div. in Biblical Theology and Ph.D. in Historical Theology, cum laude, from Princeton Theological Seminary. For three years, he served as Teaching Fellow in Christian Theology and Ethics at Princeton. He also has studied at Yale and the Sorbonne.

In 1948, Dr. Morey was ordained by the United Presbyterian Church as a Minister of the Gospel, and served as Senior Pastor of three Presbyterian Congregations in the cities of Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Richmond. before retiring from the pastorate in 1985.

Dr. Morey and Betty, his wife, who were married in 1948, are the parents of two daughters and one son, and they have 14 grandchildren. Dr. & Mrs. Morey presently make their home in Pinehurst, North Carolina.

Since 1974, Dr. Morey has been involved in international ministry as a frequent speaker and teacher at renewal conferences. He is recognized as a dynamic Bible interpreter and evangelist who has conducted Preaching and Teaching Missions throughout the U.S.A., Europe, Asia, Israel, Brazil and South Africa. He is committed to the renewal of the churches in the power of the Holy Spirit so that the full Gospel may be both declared and demonstrated for the evangelization of the nations.

Parallels of Genesis and Revelation

Everything that God has begun in Genesis, He brings to a celestial climax and fulfillment in Revelation. Observe the parallels:

Genesis	Revelation
1:1 In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth.	21:1 A new heaven and a new earth.
1:5 The darkness he called night.	21:25 No night there.
1:16 God made the two great lights.	21:23 No need of sun or moon.
2:8 God planted a garden.	21:2 The holy city.
2:9 The tree of life.	22:2 The trees of life
2:10 A river flows out of Eden.	22:1 A river of the water of life.
2:17 You shall die.	21:4 Death will be no more.
2:24 The man . . . woman.	21:9 The bride, the wife of the lamb.
3:1 The serpent (appears).	20:10 The devil, thrown into the lake of fire.
3:6 (Serpent victorious).	20:10 The devil (defeated).
3:6 (Sin enters).	21:27 Nothing unclean will enter (the city).
3:8 The man and his wife hide from God.	22:4 They will see his face.
3:8 (Walking with God interrupted).	21:3 He will dwell with them.
3:13 (Initial victory of serpent).	22:3 (Ultimate victory of the lamb).
3:16 Pangs increased.	21:4 Pain will be no more.
3:17 The ground cursed.	22:3 Nothing accursed.
3:19 Return to dust.	22:5 They will reign forever and ever.
3:23 Sent forth from the garden of Eden.	21:25 Ist gates will never be shut.
3:24 He drove out the man (from God's presence).	22:4 They will see his face.
3:24 (No access) to the tree of life.	22:14 They will have the right to the tree of life.

History began in the garden of Eden, but it is consummated in the new Jerusalem. Between the two there stands the cross through which the tragedy of the garden is transformed into the triumph of the city. Revelation begins on the Lord's Day (see 1:10) and concludes in the eternal jubilee of the holy city. „Paradise Lost“ becomes more than „Paradise Regained“.

The New Millennium

As early as 1990, the Millennium Society chartered the QE II to transport 1,800 passengers from New York City to Alexandria, Egypt, in order to welcome the 21st. Millennium at the Great Pyramid of Cheops on Dec. 31, 1999. Other celebrations are planned for each of the 24 time zones of the world, including events at the Great Wall of China, India's Taj Mahal, Mount Fuji in Japan, and of course Times Square in New York City. Most major hotels and restaurants around the world are already booked for Millennium Eve parties. And thousands of misguided souls are planning on moving to Jerusalem in order to await the Second Coming!

But when will the new Millennium begin? A strange question? The common answer seems to be: "The 21st. Century will begin at one-trillionth of a second after midnight on Saturday, January 1, 2000. And is probably when most people will celebrate.

The correct answer, however, is that A.D. 2000 is actually the last year of the 20th. century, and the 21st. century official begins at one trillionth of a second after midnight on January 1, 2001. At least the World Missions Center and the "A.D. 2000 and Beyond Movement" has it right, as they have booked Jerusalem at that time in order to strategically assess the progress toward the goal of "a church for every people and the gospel for every person."

But this is all based on the 1582 Gregorian Calendar, which utilized the work of Dionysius Exiguus who in 532 divided history into B.C. and A.D. for the first time, and which was not adopted by England and the Colonies until 1752. Nor does it take into account that two billion Chinese begin all dating from 2,637 B.C.E., one billion Muslims from Mohammed's Hegira in 622 C.E., not to mention the Jews who date from the Creation in 3,760 B.C.E., obviously ignoring Archbishop Usher's calculation of 4,004 B.C.

But if we were to employ a biblical Christian calendar, the question would still be: When does the 21st. century really begin? Since King Herod the Great, having ascertained from the Wise Men when the Star first appeared in the East that signaled the birth of the King of the Jews, and since when the Wise Men went to Bethlehem, Jesus was no longer a baby in a manger but now a toddler in a home, and since Herod ordered the slaughter of the innocents -- all males two years old and under -- in the area of Bethlehem, and since Herod died in 4 B.C. -- all of this faithful to the biblical record -- then Jesus, contrary to adopted Gregorian calendar, was born between 5 and 7 B.C. Therefore, by a genuine Christian reckoning, we have been in the 21st. Millennium since at least 1995 and probably since 1993! Imagine that! The Rapture has not yet occurred! Or did we miss it?

Now, of course, all of this is based on very fallible human reckoning that has absolutely no connection with the Triune God's historical timetable, which in His wisdom He has chosen not to confide to anyone!
