

Example for two typical weekly schedules

By giving you this overview, we try to show the intensity of the SBS and the approximate weekly work- and study hours. In general we count on a 6-day week. Some weekends are free, on 1-2 weekends per month we as a school are responsible for cooking and dishes. The overview below is according to experiences of the past years. The time set for personal studies is very individual. It depends on your own personal goals for the school and on your personal study habits. This time can be shorter of course.

An intensive seminar week with little personal study time (e.g Revelation or first two weeks of the school)
